

NILO PEDRAZZINI

✉ n.pedrazzini@qmul.ac.uk 🌐 npedrazzini.github.io 🔗 nilopedrazzini 🐙 npedrazzini

Skills

Areas of specialization	Multilingual language modelling; language typology; semantics and discourse coherence; computational linguistics; Slavic linguistics; corpus building and linguistic annotation (low-resource languages and noisy data).
Programming languages	Advanced Python, R and Bash. Intermediate Ruby.
My go-to NLP stack	MacOS, Jupyter (local proof-of-concept) · Ubuntu Azure VMs/HPC, Azure Blob Storage, Bash/SLURM (cloud development) · Pandas, BeautifulSoup (data wrangling) · spaCy, NLTK (preprocessing) · Transformers, PyTorch (& Lightning), Gensim (language modeling) · SciPy, PyKrig, gstat (R) (interpolation) · scikit-learn (clustering, dimensionality reduction) · Matplotlib/Seaborn, Plotly/Dash, Kepler (visualization) · MyBinder (short-term dissemination) · HuggingFace (language model release) · Weights & Biases (experiment tracking).
Natural languages	Italian (native), English (C2), Russian (C1), Spanish (Dele B2), Serbian (B1-B2), German (Goethe-Zertifikat B1). Good reading knowledge of Bulgarian, French, and Norwegian (Bokmål). Working knowledge of Ancient Greek, Hittite, Latin, Old Church Slavonic, Arabic (Egyptian), Huichol (Wixárika), Amele, and te reo Māori.

Employment

Academic positions

Mar 2026–	Postdoctoral Research Associate , Queen Mary University of London (Text Machine: Computing Literary Innovation project). 🔗
Aug 2023–Mar 2026	Turing Research Fellow , The Alan Turing Institute (London). 🔗
Jan 2022–Aug 2023	Research Associate in Corpus-Based Digital Humanities , The Alan Turing Institute (London) (Living with Machines project) 🔗👥
Sep 2021–Mar 2022	Hourly-Paid Lecturer in Digital Humanities, King's College London (Department of Digital Humanities).
Sep 2020–Jun 2021	Tutor in General Linguistics, Oriel College & Lady Margaret Hall, University of Oxford.
Dec 2020–Aug 2021	Research Assistant , Oxford School of Global and Area Studies, International Multimodal Communication Centre (IMCC) (Depictions of Post-COVID-19 Futures in Russian International Media: Multimodal Viewpoint Analysis) 🔗.
Feb–Jun 2020	Research Assistant , Department of Experimental Psychology, University of Oxford (ReadOxford) 🔗

Visiting positions and secondments

Aug 2025–	Guest Researcher , University of Oslo, Dept. of Linguistics and Scandinavian Studies.
Aug 2024–Aug 2025	Research Data Science Placement , Research Engineering Group, The Alan Turing Institute (London).
Feb 2023–Jul 2023	Research Software Engineer , University of Oxford (Digital Scholarship @ Oxford project) 🔗

Education

- 2023 DPhil in Linguistics, University of Oxford.
Thesis: A quantitative and typological study of Early Slavic participle clauses and their competition. ESRC full scholarship (Grand Union DTP). Supervisor: Hanne M. Eckhoff.
- Autumn 2020 Visiting PhD student, University of Oslo, Dept. of Linguistics and Scandinavian Studies.
Supervisor: Dag T. T. Haug.
- 2019 MSt in Slavonic Studies (Serbian), University of Oxford (Distinction).
Bosnian-Croatian-Serbian language; history of Church Slavonic; Cyrillic palaeography. Supervisor: Hanne M. Eckhoff.
- 2015 – 2017 MPhil in Theoretical and Applied Linguistics (70% complete), Università di Pavia (29.2/30).
Thesis project: Secondary uses of the Russian second-genitive. Supervisor: Silvia Luraghi.
Exams: first-order logic, computational linguistics, advanced phonology, language typology, Celtic linguistics, Hittite language, advanced Russian, Slavic philology.
- 2015 BA in Russian and English, Università di Pavia (110/110 Summa cum Laude).
Thesis: Old Believers' syllabic poetry and the Russian Baroque: Anonymous lamentations from the first half of the 18th century. Supervisor: Maria C. Bragone.

Grants and Awards

- 2024 Publications 2022 Best Paper Award
- 2019–2023 ESRC Grand Union DTP PhD Studentship for Delimiting native and foreign syntax in Early Slavonic by enhancing digital corpora (UKRI Proj. Ref.: 2266900) (~£90,000)
- 2022 Circle U. Prize Award (PI: Barbara McGillivray), as a contributor to the project The Language of Mechanization, part of the Living with Machines project (The Alan Turing Institute), for 'innovative and novel approaches to inter- and trans-disciplinary research'
- 2020 ESRC Overseas Institutional Visit Award, for a two-month visiting research period at the University of Oslo, Norway (~£4,000)
- 2019 Somerville College Archibald Jackson Prize (for achieving distinction at a graduate degree at Oxford)

Teaching

- Autumn 2024 (Workshop) Data/Culture: Working with big historical data from maps and newspapers (London).
- Spring 2024 (Workshop) Data/Culture: Working with big historical data from maps and newspapers (Lancaster).
- Autumn 2023 (Lectures) Introduction to Text Mining with Python (MSc in Digital Scholarship, University of Oxford).
- Summer 2023 (Summer School) Applied Data Analysis, Digital Humanities at Oxford Summer School (DHOxSS).
- Spring 2023 (Workshop) AI and Historical Newspapers (British Library).
- 2021 (Lectures) The Cultural Web: Building a Humanities Website. (King's College London).
- Spring 2021 (Tutorials) Historical Linguistics (University of Oxford).
- Winter 2021 (Tutorials) Semantics & Pragmatics (University of Oxford).
- (Tutorials) Sociolinguistics (University of Oxford).
- Autumn 2020 (Tutorials) General Linguistics Foundations (University of Oxford).
- (Tutorials) Psycholinguistics (University of Oxford).

Service

- Editorial: Journal of Open Humanities Data: Editorial Assistant (2021–2023), Section Editor (2022), Copyeditor (2020–2021).

- Fellow*/Organizer†/Programme Committee‡/Reviewer: Reproducibility Research Oxford (UK Reproducibility Network)* (2021–2025); Open Humanities Seminar Series (OHSS)† (2022); DH Benelux‡ (2022, 2024, 2025, 2026); AmericasNLP‡ (2026); ADHO Digital Humanities Conference; International Conference on Natural Language Processing for Digital Humanities (NLP4DH); Journal of Greek Linguistics; Axioms; Open Research Europe; Languages.
- Supervision: Doctoral: Miriam Eisenbruch (Oxford; co-supervision, 2024–); Master's: Malithi Alahapperuma (MSc, UCL/Turing; placement supervision, 2021).
- Departmental service: Undergraduate admissions: Lady Margaret Hall, University of Oxford for Modern Languages & Linguistics and Psychology and Philosophy & Linguistics (2018, 2019, 2020, 2022, 2023).
